Individual animals underlying the strongest age-response findings